

The LITURGY

Maundy (feet washing)

The Washing of the Feet, is a religious rite observed by various Christian denominations. The name is taken from the first few Latin words sung at the ceremony of the washing of the feet, "Mandatum novum do vobis ut diligatis invicem sicut dilexi vos" meaning; "I give you a new commandment, That ye love one another as I have loved you" (John 13:34)

In Catholic Church, the ritual washing of feet is now associated with the Mass of the Lord's Supper, which celebrates in a special way the Last Supper of Jesus, before which he washed the feet of his twelve apostles.

Evidence for the practice on this day goes back at least to the latter half of the 12th century, when "the Pope washed the feet of twelve sub-deacons after his Mass and of thirteen poor men after his dinner. From 1570 to 1955, the Roman Missal printed, after the text of the Holy Thursday Mass, a rite of washing of feet unconnected with the Mass. In 1955 Pope Pius XII revised the ritual and inserted it into the Mass. Since then, the rite is celebrated after the homily that follows the reading of the gospel account of how Jesus washed the feet of his twelve apostles (John 13:1-15). In a notable break from the 1955 norms, Pope Francis washed the feet of two women and Muslims at a juvenile detention center in Rome 2013. In 2016 it was announced that the Roman Missal had been revised to permit women to have their feet washed on Maundy Thursday; previously it permitted only males to do so. In 2016 Catholic priests around the world washed both women's and men's feet on Holy Thursday "their gesture of humility represented to many the progress of inclusion in the Catholic church."

LoveThyNeighbor small act fact:

- Masks can slow the spread of the virus from those who may have it but don't know it, and also protect the wearer.
- Masks provide an extra layer to help prevent respiratory droplets from traveling in the air and infecting other people.
- Because COVID-19 spreads mainly among people who are in close contact — within about 6 feet — for a prolonged period, keeping that distance reduces the chance for spreading the virus.

Right now LOVE THY NEIGHBOR looks like;

- Wearing a Mask
- Washing and sanitizing hands
- Social distancing
- Getting vaccinated

SMALL act of love, a BIG IMPACT
